

Ah, Cruel Fate!

A "Victorian Melodrama" by Richard Tydeman

CAST in the order of their appearance

The Narrator	Jim Pettifer
Flint a heavy father	Herbert Winter
Nell his daughter	Jean Humphries
Lucy Nell's daughter	Tara Andrew
Ernest a mariner	Barry Cooper
Roberto a Pirate King	Ben Bansal
Jack his lieutenant	Jonathan Greetham
Pirates	Charles Etheridge Mike Manison
ALSO:
Lucy (as a young child)	Stephanie Humphries
Lucy (as an older child)	Abigail Bansal

The play directed by Herbert Winter

Stage Manager and Properties	Sarah Burge
Prompt	Diana Swann
Curtain	Derek Taylor
Make-up	Daphne Zaiger and members of the cast
Costumes	Gwyneth Winter and members of the cast Elizabethan costumes from The Haslemere Wardrobe
Lighting	Roger Croxall and Ceri Fisher
Set Construction	Ceri Fisher, Alf Way, Verdi Skinner, Laurie Lee
Scenery Painting	Don McKechnie
Front of House	Christine Boshier, Margot Fisher, Vera Reddy, Audrey Skinner
Box Office	Barbara Way and Balson's (Chideock)
Publicity	Deirdre Coburn, Herbert Winter and Ron Boshier (also Photography)

Harlequinade

A Farce by Terence Rattigan

CAST in the order of their appearance

Arthur Gosport	Jim Pettifer
Edna Selby	Deirdre Coburn
Jenny	Jean Humphries
Dame Maud Gosport	Heather Knight
Jack Wakefield	Barry Cooper
George Chudleigh	Charles Etheridge
First Halberdier	Ross Jones
Second Halberdier	Mike Manison
Miss Fishlock	Sally Hemingway
Fred Ingram	Jonathan Greetham
Muriel Palmer	Tara Andrew
Mr. Burton	Herbert Winter
Tom Palmer	Mike Manison
Joyce Langland	Catherine Kingscott
Policeman	Ben Bansal

The play directed by Herbert Winter

The action passes on the stage of a theatre in a Midlands town early on a Monday evening in about the year 1950.

We are very grateful to Myrtle Cheeseman for taking charge of the catering, and to all her helpers.

Many thanks, too, to Ceri Fisher for organizing the bar, and to Philip Goodall, Alf Way and Verdi Skinner for their help in running it.

The Producer would also like to thank most warmly everyone who has helped, in so many ways, with this production and given their time so willingly.